Qubies Baby Food Trays by Miinki Moop

Once again, my Australian chum has sent me another genius mealtime product from down under. Unlike other trays designed for freezing and storing homemade babyfood, Qubies ice trays do not require that you fill individual sections as the dividers for your purees or juices are on the lid. Made from non-stick silicon, it appears that you need only be careful not to over fill the tray so as to avoid the baby food from spilling out when you snap on the cover. A pretty clever idea that keeps the kitchen just a smidge cleaner.
