

<http://babyccinoblog.com/>

An easy life

February 16th, 2009

I'm all for an easy life at the moment. It could be because I've just moved home and am up to my eyeballs in boxes. Or it could be because I'm rushed off my feet at work. But when I saw this product I thought, "yes, yes, yes".

One of the reasons I stopped pureeing food was because it took so bloomin' long to spoon the quantities into ice cubes. It took FOREVER. But this clever little invention from Qubies means you can just pour your pureed food into the tray and the little plastic device separates it for you. Finally, an invention that is really going to save me time.

-Natalie

* ADD TO KIRTSY

Entry Filed under: Baby, Food, Home, Kitchen, Things We LOVE!, Utensils

3 Comments Add your own

- 1. Courtney | February 16th, 2009 at 8:51 am

Such a simple, yet brilliant idea!

- 2. Esther | February 16th, 2009 at 11:05 am

I also hated the stupid ice-cubes. These look super handy!!!

- 3. Christine | February 16th, 2009 at 4:37 pm

this is genius! i love that it does the dividing for you...am all for products that make things easier.

